Fund Performance (before fees and taxes)

Managers

Arrowstreet

Management Style	Target Weight
Style neutral, concentrated	32%

Arrowstreet is a Boston based, staff-owned manager founded in 1999. The firm aims to add value using a quantitative approach, identifying "indirect factors" that affect stock prices but which are not used by other investors. Arrowstreet believe the most valuable (and often overlooked) insights for forecasting equity returns are often found by observing information about related securities.

Baillie Gifford & Co

Management Style	Target Weight
Growth, concentrated	9.5%

The strategy is a purely stock-driven, unconstrained global equity strategy, concentrated in companies believed to have the potential for super normal growth from around the world. Potential new investment ideas are subject to a rigorous due diligence process, with the aim of building up a view as to whether the stock has the potential to grow to many multiples of their current size.

Maj Invest

Management Style	Target Weight
Fundamental, Judgemental	21%

Maj's Global Value strategy is a bottom-up stock-picking approach that makes significant use of technology for much of the "heavy lifting" of data processing, analysis and modelling. The concentrated portfolios that result display a defensive value tilt. Attention is paid to ensure that idiosyncratic risk dominates the tracking error.

Maj believes that the fundamentals of a business matter but the irrational behaviour of investors can create a disconnect between the underlying business and its stock price. The strategy seeks companies that are superior in stability, profitability, return potential, balance sheet quality and valuation.

Wellington

Management Style	Target Weight
Specialty, Unconstrained	15%

Wellington's Durable Enterprises seeks to provide attractive risk-adjusted returns by investing in businesses that they argue will be more stable than the market believes. Stable businesses are very unlikely to issue the best performing stocks in a single year.

Wellington looks for stability in unconventional places and finds stable businesses at reasonable valuations in two areas; areas of the market perceived as unstable such as small caps, volatile sectors, and disfavoured geographies; and companies that do not grow fast enough for growth investors, lack the blue chip financial characteristics sought by quality investors, and are not cheap enough for value investors.

Alliance Bernstein

Management Style	Target Weight
Growth, Quality	16.5%

Alliance Bernstein manage their Concentrated Global Growth strategy with a mid/large-cap growth investment style. They invest in a small sub-set of high-quality growth companies where in-depth, bottom-up research has been conducted. Strict adherence to a valuation discipline determines the holdings at any one point in time.
